As a business owner with limited experience in construction and minimal time to manage the dozens of decisions that need to be made every day, it was extremely important to me to work with a strong and experienced construction management firm. I interviewed several firms, and even worked with another one briefly, but ultimately selected Josehart Construction Management.

Our three story Audi showroom in San Francisco, was an extremely complex project with many stakeholders and variables that required constant attention to detail. Joel kept me informed with executive briefings on a regular basis, took care of all the daily details, and allowed me to run my business while he managed our project as if it was his own. Hiring Joel and his firm was one of my best business decisions. Without Joel on our team, there is no way our project would have been on time and under budget.

I continue to work with Josehart Construction Management and would not even think about not using them for future projects. This is an absolute no brainer! My only regret that is that I did not meet Joel sooner. He would have saved me a ton of money and headache on other projects.

Thanks again,
